

Social Life is recruiting community researchers for a project on Clapham Park Estate

Are you interested in engaging with your community?
Join us for an exciting project-based opportunity!

Social Life has been asked by Metropolitan Thames Valley Housing and Countryside Partnerships to conduct an assessment of the social impact of the regeneration of the Clapham Park Estate. The aim is to understand the area through different kinds of research and work with residents.

As a Community Researcher on this project, you will:

- Conduct surveys and interviews with residents
- Collect and record data accurately
- Receive pay of £100 per day (several days)

Who we are looking for:

- Good communication and written skills
- Comfortable speaking to people
- Has flexible availability (we will try to work around your schedule)
- Enjoys working in a team

Training in social research will be provided and we will work with you for the duration of the research project.
